THE MARK OF QUALITY

Miller & Rhoads

Efficiency!

Can you think of another word in the English language whose meaning embraces so much?

EFFICIENCY built the Panama Canal, after inefficiency failed. And the efficiency of Panama doubled the effectiveness of the United States navy without adding a ship to its register. It took over 8,000 miles out of the trip from New York to San Francisco, and changed the highway between London and Australia from Suez to Panama.

EFFICIENCY in a big business insures against lost motion—it produces the utmost service out of equipment, and yields the finest product at the least cost.

EFFICIENCY in a big store like Miller & Rhoads assures satisfaction to every patron—it creates a corps of highly trained specialists, whose duty it is to provide for you the goods you desire—when you want them—also, the best varieties.

EFFICIENCY assures you of all this— and MORE! We have applied it to every stage of every transaction, from the courtesy extended by the floor-man, the politeness of the elevator-man, the obliging treatment you receive from the clerk at the counter, and finally, to the prompt delivery of the package at your door. EFFICIENCY assures SERVICE, which, in importance, can be rated second only to the QUALITY of the article purchased.

Every advantage that executive skill and ability can offer is being used to increase the effectiveness of this already efficient organization. In its onward march, the store's one objective is BETTER SERVICE—to serve those whom we're privileged to serve in a BETTER WAY—to be the most HELPFUL!

PASSES TO HIS REWARD

Distinguished Presbyterian Minister Dies in His Seventy-First Year.

HOLD FUNERAL TOMORROW

Though Native of Missouri, He Made His Home in Richmond, and Was Known in State as Scholar and Confederate Veteran.

Rev. Philip Dangerfield Stephenson, D. D., for the past few years a resident of this city, living at 102 East Cary Street, and for many years an influential and leading minister of the Southern Presbyterian Church, died at Stuart Circle Hospital yesterday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock.

Dr. Stephenson was born in St. Louis, Mo., in 1845, and was in the seventy-first year of his age. He was educated at Westminster College, Mo., and graduated from Union Theological Seminary in Virginia in 1875. He became pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Trenton, N. J., and later of the church at Woodstock, Va., where he took rank at once as a leader in the ministry, and an excellent student and preacher.

In 1878 he was called to Sedalia, Mo., where he had a successful pastorate. There he was called to Hancock, Mo., his most successful pastorate was at Almond, Va., where he served the Stock Springs Church in a most successful manner, and served as Moderator of the present fine large building was erected, and at Woodstock, Va., where, from 1894 until three or four years ago, he did an excellent work.

The colored people of Richmond will be given an opportunity to derive the benefits from the Baby Welfare Exhibit today, from 10 o'clock until 4 o'clock, in Snyder & Hundley's store. The same demonstrations that were given during the last week and several lectures will be on the program. Mrs. William A. Burrows, president of the Richmond Federation of Mothers Clubs, in response to numerous requests from colored mothers, secured this extension of one day so that they might be present at the educational exhibit. No admission is charged.

One of the features of today's program is a special talk that has been arranged by Dr. E. C. Levy, chief health officer, entitled "Infant Mortality Among Colored People and How to Reduce It." Dr. Levy has recorded the health department and has several valuable suggestions to make to the colored mothers. The time for the talk is set for 2 o'clock.

USE PICKANINNY IN THE DEMONSTRATIONS

Dr. S. Thomas Emmet, medical director of the public schools, and speaker next on "Tuberculosis and Its Prevention," Dr. W. A. Flecker, State Registrar of Vital Statistics, will give a lecture on "The Privileges of Motherhood." These same speakers have given these talks at the meetings during last week.

A little colored baby will be used as a subject in the demonstrations in the proper care of a child. It will be bathed, dressed and bandaged for the benefit of the mothers present. Instructions will also be given on the proper care of the child, which will hypothetically suffer from tuberculosis, diphtheria, the measles, and other ailments peculiar to babies. In each instance the proper care of the child suffering from each disease will be demonstrated by the nurses.

FATHERS DERIVE BENEFITS FROM EXHIBIT

As an aftermath of the exhibit, Mrs. Burrows said yesterday that no number of men, fathers, who attended the display and listened to the lectures on the care of the baby. On Saturday a large number of men were present. One father questioned the nurses about the best method for a child and being advised, went out and bought a cradle as specified.

One of the interesting features of Saturday's display was the visit of the new-year-old Masse's triplets. All three were dressed and bandaged, and scolded the "prophylactic three peas in a pod." Alice, Annie and Audrey amiled brightly about. They were dressed from the same patterns and with a blue ribbon tied to their hair. It was difficult to distinguish one from the other unless they were arranged alphabetically by their mother. The same trickles and blue ribbon tied to the brown curls over their shoulder was confusing. Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Massey, of 1140 Westhampton Avenue, Glen Park, are the parents of the three little prizes. Mrs. Burrows said that if she knew the little girls were coming that she would have advertised them and a still larger crowd would have been present.

COUNCIL MARKS TIME
ON FINANCIAL MEASURES

Not Likely That Special Meeting Will Be Held to Act on Extra Appropriations.

AWAIT RESULT OF PRIMARY

Chances Are That Bond Issue and Other Matters Will Go Over Until New Body Is Elected by Citizens. Total of $3,485,000 Asked.

It is unlikely, it was said yesterday, that a special meeting of the Finance Committee will be held to consider the various requests for extra appropriations offered in the meeting of the Common Council on last Thursday night, and it is deemed probable that no determinative action will be taken until after the primary of April 1. It is likely, too, that the bond issue of $2,000,000, recommended by the Finance Committee for permanent improvements, and referred back by the Common Council, will not be acted upon in special meeting, but will go over until the new Council comes in.

The Finance Committee's next regular meeting is to be held on Thursday night, March 21, and petitions for extra funds will be heard on that date, though final disposition and recommendations will not then, in all probability, be made.

EXTRA APPROPRIATIONS ASKED TOTAL $1,185,000

When the proposed bond issue ordinance was taken from the table on Thursday night, and after short explanatory discussion by Chairman Seaton and Councilman Carter G. Jones, of the Finance Committee, was sent back to the committee, it was followed by a small avalanche of resolutions calling for other appropriations.

President Peters, father of the plan for a Riverside Drive, asked for $25,000 for that project. Mr. Seaton wants the Finance Committee to be authorized to borrow $50,000 to pay for notes due from last year. Councilman Watkins still seeks to have appropriated $25,000 for a driveway connecting Richmond with Chester Park and for the purchase of a park site in the northern section. Councilman Fowlke believes that the city should own the Plaza street building and appropriate $25,000 for that purpose. Councilman Ferguson asks for $100,000 with which to construct lock gates in the dock, in order to save the merchants $75,000 a year in cartage. Councilman Jones is patron of a resolution authorizing the Finance Committee to issue serial bonds for $500,000 for improvement and construction of the bridge across the James River, the bridge to be projected from a point between Belvidere street and Virginia Avenue.

The extra appropriations asked for total $1,185,000, which, with the bond issue of $2,000,000 already recommended by the Finance Committee, makes a grand total of $3,185,000 which the city is asked to expend this year.

Women of All Classes Form in Work of New Organization.

A branch of the War Relief Association of Virginia has recently been organized at Staunton, and it starts off with an enthusiastic membership of prominent men and women of that town. Mrs. Frank M. D. Hanger, under whose direction the organization was perfected, writes that "women of all denominations and classes have gladly helped with the sewing—and of course many have contributed garments." Officers have been elected, and they have entered with great zest into the work of the association. The first package from the Staunton branch arrived at headquarters here a day or two ago and it contains a number of complete baby kits.

From the branch at the Theological Seminary, Alexandria, there has been received a box containing fracture pillows. Miss Carey, of St. Luke's rectory, Staunton, sent in a box containing women's jackets, men's suits, night shirts, pajamas, silk waists and children's dresses.

Alumni of Johns Hopkins University will gather on Friday, March 24, at the Westminster Club for the annual alumni dinner. Dr. J. S. Gray, of the department of geology of the University of Virginia, made the announcement at president of the alumni association.

Johns Hopkins was represented upon this occasion by Dr. John H. Latham, head of the department of history at Johns Hopkins, and formerly professor of history at Washington and Lee University.

A special feature of the dinner this year will be the presence of Dr. Frank J. Goodnow, the new president of Johns Hopkins. President Goodnow will deliver an address to the alumni, and will also review the progress of the university in the last year, dwelling particularly on the relation of the university to the alumni. He will also outline certain plans for the immediate future, which will be of interest not only to Johns Hopkins men, but to all college and university men in Richmond.
